What? Why that these

KID BUTTON BOOTS FOR $2.50,

Worth it? Why, may we never hear the sweet, tintinnabulation of the dinner bell again, if they are not worth $3.00, but we make the reduction simply as an advertisement.

AROUND THE LEWISTON CAMP-FIRE.

Stirring Speeches to Two Thousand Veterans.

MORE SPICE OF THE BIG GRAND ARMY REUNION—SPEECHES BY SENATOR FRYE, CONGRESSMEN DINGLEY AND BOUTELLE, JUDGE ENOCH FORSTER, CHAPLAIN SHINN AND HON. H. B. CLEAVES.

[From the Lewiston Journal.]

With hushed attention did two thousand people wait upon the slightest accents of the orators of the evening at the big campfire, at the Lewiston Skating Rink, Wednesday evening. Nobody got up and left the hall. Nobody showed signs of inattention. Always the shouts from the audience were "Go on! Go on!" cheers followed laughter, and the hush of tears often followed both. For enthusiasm and warmth, nothing in this city for years has equalled it. The Grand Army men were delighted with it all.

The stage was handsomely decorated with flowers. A large vase, half as high as a man, was buried in flowers that trailed vine-like over its sides, and made a dome of color and of fragrance at its bowl. Duplicate baskets of flowers sat upon each end of the stage, and the brilliant electric lights, lent color and life to a scene that was striking in countless ways. In the rear gallery, the Livermore Falls Band played choice music. Upon the stage sat Department Commander Gatley, Senator Wm P. Frye, Congressman Chas. A. Boutelle of Bangor, Congressman N. Diggley, Jr., Hon. Henry B. Cleaves, of Portland, Judge Enoch Foster, of Bethel, Judge of the Supreme Bench of Maine, Rev. Q. H. Shinn, of Deering, the jolly chaplain of the Grand Army, Past Department Commanders Augustus C. Hamlin, of Bangor, E. M. Shaw, of Nashua, N. H., and Nelson Howard, ex-Mayor of Lewiston, besides an array of dignitaries of the Grand Army—gray-headed men with many an empty sleeve. The gathering was notable.

After an appropriate opening, Department Commander Richard K. Gatley, of Portland, introduced Congressman Dingley, who was received most cordially, and who spoke substantially as follows:

CONGRESSMAN DINGLEY'S REMARKS.

Mr. Commander and Soldiers of the G. A. R.:

In behalf of the citizens of Lewiston and Auburn, I desire to welcome you to this place.

It always affords us much gratification to meet here any of our fellow citizens on the occasion of the annual State Fair. But this gratification is heightened when these fellow citizens are the surviving veterans who fought so successfully for liberty and union in the late war, and especially when they gather here to hold a State camp-fire to revive old memories and renew old friendships.

I see before me surviving representatives of all or nearly all the thirty-four regiments, and the batteries, in which were enrolled 72,945 soldiers, who went forth from this State between 1861 and 1865, to aid in the defence of the Union. More than a quarter of a century has passed since some of you marched to the scene of war. More than twenty-two years have rolled by since victory crowned your arms and you returned to peaceful pursuits. In those years death has been so busy in your ranks that a large proportion of those who returned home have gone to their reward. Disabled by wounds received in battle or by disease contracted in service, or by the rough wear of hard marches and constant exposure, thousands who escaped death on the battlefield or in the hospital and who returned at the close of the war and who still survive, bear in their bodies evidences of the trials through which they have passed. [Applause.]

It is no wonder, soldiers, that the fearful dangers through which you passed together, inspired more than an ordinary friendship and gave to comradeship in the Union army a special significance. [Applause.]

The frightfulness of these dangers no one can understand except he who has passed through them. I remember that a few months after the Second Battle of Bull Run I rode over that battlefield in company with an officer who participated in it. I never can forget the fearful scene which presented itself on the ground in a grove of half-grown trees where Kearney fought, and where the tide of battle rolled alternately for friend and foe, until night put an end to the evenly balanced struggle. [Applause.]

The little mounds of earth, barely covering the whitened bones and shreds of blue and gray, were strewn thickly around for many acres, marking the spot where friend and foe fell, and where amid the roar of cannon and battle of musketry they had hastily received a soldier's burial. Shot and fragments of shell, flattened musket balls, damaged rifles, broken sabres and abandoned equipments were scattered in every direction.

The trees overhead, in their broken branches and perforated trunks, bore record of the terrific contest which had raged in their shadows on that August day. In the presence of such fearful reminders, imagination partially filled in the actors in the dread scene. I seemed to see the rebel onset and patriot repulse. I almost heard the groans of the wounded, and caught the last fond gaze of the sleepers around me, all of whom perhaps, had left kindred and friends and happy homes to yield up their lives in that far-away spot, in the defence of republican institutions.

Soldiers, I see in your faces to-night evidence that as the years begin to leave their marks, and your ranks thin, the cord of comradeship and warm sympathy which binds together the survivors of such conflicts as these, only strengthens. The large numbers of the boys in blue who have gathered here to-night from all parts of the State, and the hearty expressions of joy which have accompanied the handshaking, bear witness to the fact that time has only strengthened the bond of union which has gathered you in Posts of the Grand Army. [Applause.]

It is no wonder that as you come together on such occasions as these, you take a deep pride in recounting the scenes of those days which tried men's souls, and in which you bore so honorable a part. Your children are already telling the story of your deeds with a commendable pride.

"My father," one is saying, "breasted the terrific storm which at Gettysburg enveloped Cemetery Hill."

"My father," another exclaims, "was on the Old Hartford when glorious Farragut, lashed to the mast, wrung victory from a proud foe."

"My father," will be another's story, "was in the terrific shocks of Chancellorsville and the Wilderness."

"And my father," still another is proudly saying, "fought on the summit of Lookout Mountain, above the clouds." [Applause.]

Rest assured, my friends, that the sons of such sires will feed on such precious inheritances until they grow to the full stature of patriotic citizens, and like Hannibal, will on the family altar swear eternal hatred to every form of oppression. Others may fail in fidelity to country and equal rights, but they never.

On a rocky cliff in the city of Lucerne, in Switzerland, the great Danish sculptor Thorwaldson, has carved the figure of a gigantic dying lion, holding in his paw the Bourbon shield and lily, in honor of the fidelity of the Swiss guards of the Tuileries to the unfortunate Louis XVI. The fidelity which the famous Lion of Lucerne typifies is devotion to a bad cause. But the fidelity which the soldiers of the Republic exhibited was devotion to a noble cause—the cause of Liberty and Union, to become one and inseparable.

To the men who took their lives in their hands, and went forth to successfully battle for such a cause, the country owes a debt of gratitude which it can never fully repay.

But, soldiers, I must not longer detain you from participation in the rich intellectual feast that is to come. I can only renew in conclusion, my hearty congratulations, and again express my warm sympathies for you personally and for the organization of the Grand Army of the Republic. [Applause.]

The Mendelsshon Quartet followed in a selection which was warmly applauded, and to which the audience persistently demanded an encore. The Quartet was agreeable, and responded with "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground."

Commander Gatley announced the receipt of a message from Hon. Thos. B. Reed, of Portland, regretting the receipt of a sudden call to Biddeford just as he was about to take the train for Lewiston.

HON HENRY B. CLEAVES of Portland, was announced.

Mr. Cleaves made a bright, witty speech, full of pith and point. Mr. Cleaves said that he felt that he was put out as a sort of skirmisher to advance the skirmish line, and that later they would hear further artillery. Military experience had taught him never to disobey the commands of a superior officer, and he had not at this late day learned any other lesson. If not able to pay in sound currency it is not the fault of mine. Mr. Cleaves designated the welcome extended to the guests of the G. A. R. as royal. He had thought, as he viewed the mammoth squash, that all the boys who came up out of the valleys of the Carolinas, had beaten their swords and bayonets into plowshares and pruning hooks.

"I have thought too," said the speaker, "as I have viewed the scenes to-day, that it was the consummate duty of this nation to so frame laws that they shall afford just and equal protection for all men in all occupations of life, and there is no politics in that either." [Applause.] The speaker referred to the composition of the organization of the Grand Army as of loyal men and good citizens of the republic. They were loyal men during the war, and have been good citizens ever since. It is an honorable organization, and bears upon its rolls the names of such men as Grant [applause], Sherman [applause], Logan [cheers and applause], Garfield [applause] and of others. It is a proud emblem, the little star you bear upon your breast. It was a long and fearful contest, a contest not for new territory or the subjugation of a race, but for a united country and a people freed.

Speaking of the pension laws, Mr. Cleaves said that one had but to look into the faces of a party of Grand Army men to see the marks of old age and infirmities.

Without entering into politics in any sense of the word, he felt that he could say with candor upon this subject that when an old soldier is incapacitated by old age or other infirmities, to carry on the active duties of life, no matter if the infirmities can not be directly traced to the war, the government owes it to itself to see that the soldier has something to keep him comfortable [great applause.] Statistics show that 10,000 old soldiers are in poor-houses. I say open the doors of the poor-houses and give them sustenance so that they may live and die in peace. It will be only after many, many years that the debt of gratitude to the soldier is paid.

CONGRESSMAN BOUTELLE'S REMARKS.

Congressman Boutelle was next introduced to the audience, and was received with cheers and applause.

Congressman Boutelle's speech was applauded to the echo. It was just of the kind to touch the Grand Army men.

He said, in brief, that he was glad to see that there is certainly one place in the country where the Grand Army is not forbidden to assemble. [Applause.] He was glad to belong to a State where the Grand Army will never be forbidden to assemble. [Applause.]

I have been looking over this vast audience, to-night, and seeing that our veteran soldiers constitute the yeomanry of the State; the grandest of yeomanry of the best State in the Union, and have contrasted these soldier-citizens with some of the epithets that have been applied to them, such as pension bummers, mendicants, beggars, bounty jumpers, etc. It is a contrast that should be an object lesson for the youth of our land, in Patriotism and Fidelity. The G. A. R. is not hurt by warfare of that kind.

The organization is not stamped out by brutality nor stampeded by a sortie, nor killed by calumny. It is here and here to stay, while a single member survives to represent the saviors of the Nation. Its spurs are not yet to be won. They were won years ago where the bullets sang no lullaby. The bronze star upon your breasts is the grandest insignia ever worn by any people in any country of the world. I say the Grand Army has come to stay as long as there is a man left alive.

There is but one Commander-in-Chief who has the power to muster you out, and He is that Commander under whose beneficent Leadership you bore your banners to the wars, and who nerved your strong right arms for the battle for Truth, Justice and Eternal Right. [Applause.]

The Old Flag is there, the bright, the beautiful, the starlit flag is there!

Yes, my comrades, the Old Flag is there and the other flags are there! [Cheers, laughter and applause.] The flag that you seized from a rebel gunner at Missionary Ridge, the flag that was plucked from the deathly parapets of Fort Fisher, the flag that grand old Farragut wrested from Rebellion at Mobile—they are all there, at the Capital of our victorious Nation, and there they are going to stay, [terrific cheering] as they ought to stay as a symbol of the triumph of national unity and peace over the dragons of discord, conspiracy and war. And the man who cannot look upon the visible emblems of that triumph in the light in which it was intended they should be preserved and recognize the true moral grandeur of their symbolism, is lacking in some of the essential elements of a loyal American citizen. [Applause.] I don't know whether they have put those flags back into the packing boxes where a tender hearted official put them, but I do know that a command will be made at the opening of Congress, and I'll see that it is made, [applause] that the laws are carried out requiring that the trophies of the Nation's defenders be displayed at the National Seat of Government. [Applause.]

The speaker referred in scathing denunciation of the idea that treason now is any more respectable than it was twenty-five years ago, and he urged that the horrid nature of treason be kept fully in the minds of the youth of our nation. He feared that the growing tendency was to forget that treason and disunion are no less wrong now than they were ever. It has become a fad apparently to be proud of that Mr. So and So was an officer in the Confederate Army, and the Newport Letter.

[Regular Correspondence of Whig and Courier.]

Mr. Jotham Colcord, residing in the east part of the town, died quite suddenly last Monday morning. Mr. Colcord was one of our oldest citizens. He was born in Portsmouth, and afterwards moved to Berwick, where he lived a few years, and came to this town forty-four years ago, where he has lived to the time of his death. His age was eighty-seven years. Funeral services were held at the house last Tuesday afternoon, Rev. John Tinling officiating.

E. R. Dow and wife, W. B. Marsh and C. H. Morrill and wife, Mrs. R. H. Libby and O. H. Judkins, attended the quarterly session of Penobscot District Lodge, I. O. G. T., held at Orono last Tuesday, as representatives of Newport Lodge.

Mr. A. S. Gould has opened the blacksmith shop on Elm street known as the Luce shop, and is prepared to do horse shoeing and job work in a first-class manner.

The village schools commenced last Monday with a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Tilton are spending the week in Lewiston, visiting friends and "doing" the State Fair.

Quarterly meeting at the M. E. Church this week, commencing Friday evening. On Sunday, Rev. Mr. Osgood, Presiding Elder of this district, will preach forenoon and afternoon.

Pipe laying for the water works is rapidly approaching completion, the reservoir is nearly done and work is being pushed on the dam so that in a few weeks the job will be done.

On last accounts the condition of Rev. W. J. Clowes, pastor of the Baptist church, was unchanged; but his friends hope he may recover after a few months treatment and rest.

Mr. Murphy, pastor of the M. E. church, has been obliged to give up his charge for the present owing to a severe throat trouble. Rev. W. H. McAllister, from Ocean Grove, N. J., preached in the M. E. church last Sabbath, and will probably supply the pulpit during Mr. Murphy's absence.

Rev. D. A. Morehouse and family has returned from Massachusetts where he has been spending his vacation.

Mr. J. W. Loud has found no trace of the party that broke into his store, and it is doubtful if he does.

The display of fruits, vegetables, fancy goods, etc., in connection with the Piscataquis Central Fair, will be made in Central Hall this year, instead of at the park. The facilities will be much better for a good display, and with this improvement it is hoped our citizens will make this feature of the fair a great success.

There is considerable interest here in the extension of the railroad from Dexter, and our people are disposed to co-operate with that town to bring it about.

Our selectmen have been building a substantial bridge over Black stream, on the Dexter road, in place of the old one which was badly damaged during the freshet last spring.

The twenty men picked from the Douty Guards to represent the company at Philadelphia, are putting in extra work in drilling and propose to make a good showing at the celebration.

Prof. C. C. Lee has been obliged to give up his position in the Bluehill Academy because of sickness in his family, but will teach a High school in Sangerville this fall.

Mrs. E. M. Wyman has returned from an extended visit in the West.

Mr. G. G. Downing will attend the National Encampment of the G. A. R., at St. Louis, as a delegate.

Dr. E. T. Rogers has been making a short visit in this vicinity. He reports a very satisfactory dental practice in Boston where he has been located for several months.

Mr. John Collins, for several years an employe in Mayo's Mill, has been visiting in Foxcroft. He is now a conductor on a street car in Cambridge, Mass.

Brown's mill has been shut down for three weeks while new machinery was put in and repairs made. The hands have had a good opportunity to camp out and attend fairs and camp meeting.

[Correspondence of Whig and Courier.]

Fire broke out in F. H. Gould's store at ten o'clock, Wednesday morning. An alarm was given, and in a few moments Tiger No. 1 and Mr. Wm. R. Gifford's force pump were at work on the flames; after some hard work the fire was under control, having damaged the store and goods badly. The store will have to be new roofed. The goods were moved into the basement of J. H. Perrigo's store. We understand the loss is fully covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

COMPARISON SOLICITED.

A wise discrimination should be exercised by all who take medicine. The proprietors of Hood's Sarsaparilla solicit a careful comparison of this medicine with other blood purifiers and medicines, being confident that the peculiar merits of Hood's Sarsaparilla are so apparent that the people will unhesitatingly prefer it to any other preparation. Hood's Sarsaparilla is not a mixture of molasses and a few inert roots and herbs, but it is a peculiar concentrated extract of the best alterative and blood purifying remedies of the vegetable kingdom. The enormous sales of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the wonderful cures effected, prove even more than has been claimed for this medicine. If you are sick the best medicine is none too good. Therefore, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The report comes from New Jersey that Senator McPherson will retire from the Senate at the expiration of his present term

In the Baltimore Post-office there have been 249 removals out of 260 employes Out of 120 places in the Internal Revenue Department two or thee Republicans only survive There is not enough left for seed This is Cleveland reform at the home of Higgins

Candidate Powell opened the Democratic campaign in Ohio at Hamilton Wednesday evening He criticised the course of Gov Foraker and said what the people wanted was a Governor who would give less attention to the war that ended twenty years ago and more to the peaceful problems of the present and future One of the problems that confronted Gov Foraker when he entered upon the duties of his office was the replenishing of the State treasury left entirely empty by his Democratic predecessors and under his able administration of the affairs of the State the finances are now in a splendid condition Mr Powell will find that the people fully appreciate the services of Gov Foraker when they go to the polls

The conference at Oak View on the tariff is over and Speaker Carlisle says its object was attained Just what was agreed upon remains a deep secret, but it is not likely that a programme arranged by the President and ex-Speaker Carlisle as leaders of the free trade factions of the party will receive the sanction of Mr Randall It is also reported from Washington that Mr Carlisle will not be a candidate for Speaker but will accept the chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee in the hop of bringing about harmonious action on the tariff question in the next House Just how the presence of Mr Carlisle the leader of the free trade element in the House, on the Ways and Means Committee, is to influence the protectionist element to surrender at sight is not as clear as it might be On the contrary it looks very much as though it would only tend to drive the line more distinctly

Referring to the interview with the President published in the New York Herald, the Tribune congratulates the interviewer on his diplomacy in refraining from treading upon any of the pet corns of this Administration Here are some of the distressing leading questions which he left unasked

May I inquire Mr President why it is that in the face of the popular demand for his removal you insist upon retaining Mr Garland in your Cabinet?

Would you be good enough to inform me Mr President, what you thought of that portion of Mr Curtis Newport speech before the National Civil Service Reform League in which he criticised your own Administration from the point of view of Civil Service Reform?

Permit me to ask you Mr President, if your well known order to office-holders which was designed to prevent them being over obtrusive in politics has ever been amended or repealed?

If the order in question is still in force pray tell me Mr President, if you have no objections why you decline to enforce it?

He is a wise interviewer who is careful to ask nothing calculated to hurt the feelings of the man he is interviewing

The New York Evening Post says there is much anxiety about the Mugwump vote The fact was never more mistaken in its life In the first place there is not enough strength in the whole Mugwump contingent to warrant any anxiety, a fact fully demonstrated in the last New York state election and in the next place the Mugwump vote is mortgaged to Cleveland no matter who is the Republican nominee All their talk about independence and waiting to see who are the nominees before committing themselves is only characteristic of Mugwump hypocrisy They are simply frightened to death at the prospect of Mr Blaine's renomination and therefore intimate that with some other candidate they might renew their allegiance to the Republican party, but the man who takes any stock in that sort of chaff is very silly There is not an honest bone in the professional Mugwump's body so far as politics are concerned They were for Cleveland and reform in 1884 and they will be just as eager for Cleveland minus reform in 1888

Assistant Secretary of State Porter announces that he intends to resign very soon The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post assigns the following reasons for his course

Since the publication of the facts that the British government has appointed a commission to meet with representatives of the United States to settle, if possible, the fishery question, there has been a serious difference of opinion between the Secretary of State and his immediate assistant Governor Porter takes the ground that no power exists for the appointment of the commissioners on the part of the United States Secretary Bayard, on the other hand insists that there is no law to prevent such an appointment It is known, however that this differences of opinion has caused somewhat of a strained official relation between the two gentlemen, and those persons who are on familiar terms with either of the gentlemen believe that this fact brought about the intention of the ex Governor to resign

When Congress convenes Secretary Bayard will doubtless be given an opportunity to explain why he has continued his commission scheme in direct opposition to the vote of the Senate

Mr Moorfield Storey has sent a letter to Hon P A Collins stating that Hon John F Andrew will not consent to be a candidate on the Democratic ticket this fall The letter to Mr Collins says

I observe you are reported as having said in a recent interview that the approaching Democratic convention would probably nominate John F Andrew as its candidate for Governor. This statement coming from one standing in your relation to the Democratic party makes it proper for me to tell you that Mr Andrew, in a recent letter to me, spoke of having seen his name used in the newspapers as a possible candidate for Governor, and wrote requesting me to say, in case his nomination was seriously considered, which he felt he had no right to anticipate, that he cannot consent to stand as a candidate, and must decline the nomination if tendered. He appreciates fully the high compliment which the Democratic party would pay him by a second nomination, but he was obliged to take his family to Europe by the advice of his physician, and they cannot return till so late in the year as to make it impossible for him to take any part in the campaign of this autumn.

This decision on the part of Mr. Andrew shows that he regards the Democratic cause in Massachusetts a hopeless one and he is sensible enough not to be used as a figure head more than once.

A correspondent of the Louisville Commercial, writing to that paper from Covington, says "People not living in the vicinity of Covington and Newport have no idea of the feeling here against Mr Carlisle and his views. I give it as my honest and candid opinion that it is very doubtful whether or not the Speaker could be elected to Congress to-morrow on a full vote in the Sixth District It is more than doubtful whether he will be renominated next year"

Why Irish Americans Want Blaine

THEIR REASONS CLEARLY STATED BY JOHN F FINERTY IN THE "CITIZEN"

The doings of Mr Blaine in Europe seem to disturb the rest of the Democratic and Mugwump editors of the United States, more particularly the latter They seem to forget that the gentleman went to the other side of the Atlantic for pleasure and not for politics While in England he was pounded by journalistic detectives set upon his track to deliberately misrepresent his every word and action In Scotland it was the same, and he was absolutely persecuted in Ireland by a similar scoundrelly process Now an attempt is being made to show that Mr Blaine deliberately slighted Ireland in his European tour, and this slander is based upon the fact that he was unable to accept an invitation to a banquet tendered him by the Lord Mayor of Dublin Mr Blaine explained his declination in the following graceful letter

"SHELBOURNE HOTEL, DUBLIN,
Aug 10, 1887

The Rt Hon T D Sullivan, M P, Lord Mayor of Dublin, Mansion House—My DEAR SIR I hope you will accept my sincere thanks for the honor you confer upon me by tendering me a banquet at the Mansion House the 15th inst

"I regret that engagements made before the receipt of your invitation deprive me of the power of accepting it I must leave for the Continent to-morrow

"I shall not soon forget the kindness I have received in Ireland The deep interest I feel in the prosperity and welfare of her people will, if possible, be increased by my visit among them—a visit which I would gladly prolong if at all practicable. With great respect, I remain, my dear sir, your obedient servant,

"J G BLAINE"

This explanation was perfectly satisfactory to Lord Mayor Sullivan who was previously well aware that Mr Blaine had no desire to load himself down with speaking engagements and, as a matter of course, a banquet in Dublin means oratory ad infinitum In the crisis of the Irish cause, when Ireland needed American friends, it is well remembered that Mr Blaine, at Portland, in his own State, made one of the ablest and noblest speeches in assertion of Irish rights ever delivered by an eminent citizen of America Had he been able to accept the Dublin invitation he would no doubt have reiterated the sentiments so well expressed at Portland, and nearly every Democratic, and surely every Mugwump paper throughout the Republic would immediately say "What a spectacle of undignified demagogy! Here is a leading candidate for the Presidency of the United States committing the gross discourtesy of interfering in the domestic affairs of a friendly (?) nation! Is such a man fit to be trusted with the governing power of a great country?" And then the editors would proceed to show that if Mr Blaine happened to be elected he would immediately organize an army and fit up a naval expedition for a descent upon Ireland with the object of rescuing her from British rule Irish Americans need hardly be told what a weapon even that extravaganza would be in the hands of Mr Blaine's unscrupulous political enemies The old cries raised against him in 1884 are now dead and buried and if revived in 1888 would be drowned in the ringing of the chestnut bells throughout the land, but a good anti-Irish war cry would be a blessing to the Mugwump element of this country, and that is why the editors of the Mugwump journals, who mightily fear Blaine's popularity, were so morbidly anxious that he should speak in Dublin

There is one feature about Irish American admiration for Blaine that is persistently and no doubt purposely overlooked by Mugwump writers—Irish American citizens are in hearty accord with the manly and thoroughly American foreign policy which Mr Blaine pursued during his brief term as Secretary of State under President Garfield He was, in fact, about the only American statesman since the days of Monroe that satisfactorily defined what the foreign policy of the United States should be, and in the matter of internal economy his well known advocacy of and attachment to the protection policy of Henry Clay gave him an additional hold on the sympathy of the producing and industrial classes generally Irish-Americans are only a part—a very large and respectable part, indeed—of the vast body of industrial American citizens who regard the economic policy of Mr Blaine with hearty approval Where Irish-American opponents of the great statesman are to be found in any considerable numbers it is not among the class of wage workers and producers who desire to keep wages up to living rates in the Republic Native Americans, Germans, Scotchmen Englishmen, Welshmen and, in fact, men of all races who dwell in America and earn their bread in the sweat of their brow are, as a general proposition, the friends and supporters of Mr Blaine In this sense he is as much the American people's candidate as was Abraham Lincoln himself

We cannot, of course, make light of the forces that confront the candidacy of Mr Blaine The aristocratic, land-holding, negro grinding plutocracy of the South are against him almost to a man The snobs of Boston, and New York, and other cities who sympathize and imitate the British aristocracy, in as far as they can, are against him A small and timid section of the commercial classes of the Atlantic seaboard are against him Every narrow bigot in the country is against him Every alien, non voter, who prefers the monarchy that kicked him out to the Republic in which he has found shelter, is against Mr Blaine. The Democracy fight Mr Blaine, not because they dislike him personally, but because he is the strongest Republican Presidential candidate in the field, and they would like to see a weaker man nominated against their ticket The Mugwumps hate Mr Blaine for a variety of reasons, among them—because he represents the truly republican idea in American politics, which means that all men in this country should be, if they are not, equal before the law, and that the working classes have just as good a right to representation and respect in the government of the United States as the employing and wealthy classes Above all, the Mugwumps hate Blaine because they know that, if he is nominated in 1888, he will ascend the Presidential chair March 4, 1889 —The Citizen, Aug 26

THE STATE FAIR.

An Attendance of 12,000 on the Closing Day.

Some Interesting Races.

LEWISTON, Sept. 9. The interest in the State Fair is unusual. There was 12,000 people on the grounds to-day. The grand cavalcade of prize animals was a beautiful sight.

The unfinished four-year-old race was won by Ileonie, time 2.39.

The 2.40 class was won by Rennie P., D. P. A. second.

The pacing race was won by Ariel, Dirigo Maid second, Dan Mace third.

The free-for-all was exciting. Star Gazer won the first two heats and Maud L. the two following. The crowd lingered to the last and amid wild cheering Maud L. secured the last heat.

FROM GARDINER.

Fatal Result of Injuries.

GARDINER, Sept. 9. Miller Hinckley, Jr., died to-day from injuries received on Wednesday by a large rock rolling on top of him while at work digging a gravel bank. He leaves a widow and one child.

FROM SKOWHEGAN.

House and Barn Burned.

SKOWHEGAN, Sept. 9. The house and barn of Edmund Davis at Cornville were burned last night. Loss $2,000; insurance $700.

FROM BRUNSWICK.

Burglars at Harpswell.

BRUNSWICK, Sept. 9. Some parties entered the store of Isaac Merrimer, at Harpswell Centre, Wednesday night, and stole jewelry and money to the value of $125.

FROM SACO.

Poor Potato and Apple Crops.

SACO, Sept. 9. Reports from every town in York County show that the potato crop this year will be very light. Early hot weather, followed by a long season of rain caused them to rot badly. Many farmers say their crop is not worth digging and they use the plow in harvesting them, picking up what few are sound.

The apple crop will also be small. The best fruit is now being rushed into the market.

The grain yield will be about the average amount.

A Body Found in the Water.

While ex-mayor Bowers and wife were sailing in a yacht this afternoon he discovered the body of a middle aged man near the bank a short distance below the wharves. The body was removed to Coroner Bradbury's undertaking rooms and had apparently been in the water more than a week, and was so badly discolored as to prevent identification. It was at first believed to be the body of Patrick McCarty of Biddeford, the florist who mysteriously disappeared seven weeks ago, but the theory is discredited. He was a small, thin man and the body is that of a robust man. To-night it is learned that Richard Good, a laborer, had not been seen for eight days and it is believed that this is his body.

WESTERN UNION EXCITED.

Purchase of the Baltimore and Ohio by Jay Gould.

NEW YORK, Sep. 9. It is reported at the Stock Exchange, to-day, that Jay Gould had bought all the stock of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph. This was followed by a wild scene in the Western Union crowd, brokers gathering around the spot allotted to it in the Exchange. The purchases were enormous. President Green, of the Western Union, refused to speak in regard to the matter. One of the representatives of the syndicate admitted that the report was only premature; the sale is inevitable. The terms he refused to state.

The Reported Sale Denied.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9. D. H. Bates, President of the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph Company, to-night positively denies the rumor that the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph system has been sold to the Western Union. He says further that no negotiations are pending for a settlement.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Who will be Governor Next Week.

CONCORD, Sept. 9. The People and Patriot, in a leading editorial this evening will claim that the President of the Senate, Hon. Frank D. Currier, of Canaan, will become Acting Chief Magistrate of the State next week on the departure of Governor Sawyer to attend the Centennial Celebration of the adoption of the Federal Constitution at Philadelphia, and in support of its position cites article 49, part second, of the State Constitution.

FIRING BULLETS

At a Nationalist Meeting in Ireland.

Two Men Killed by the Police.

LONDON, Sept. 9. The meeting at Market Square was attended by 7,000. Messrs. Dillon, Dunn, Labouchere, Gil, Condon, and O'Hea were present. A Government reporter, with an escort of police, tried to push his way to the front. The crowd resisted with sticks and stones. The police charged the crowd and were repulsed by men on horseback. Condon tried to pacify the crowd. Dillon advised them to treat the police with silent contempt, because Home Rule was nearly won and then the Irish forces would be under the control of the people instead of in the hands of their enemies. The row was renewed when reinforcements of police arrived. Several were wounded and one of the wounded has since died. The police charged and dispersed the crowd.

Mr. Labouchere witnessed the whole scene from the carriage and asked magistrate Seagrave if the meeting might be held without molestation. He replied anywhere outside the town. A constable spoke to Seagrave and the latter immediately corrected himself.

Declining to Allow the Meeting Anywhere.

Father O'Callaghan followed the police and entered the barracks but was put out. Dillon was inside. Labouchere arrived later and asked the Inspector to find out who fired the shots. The Inspector refused. A youth says he can identify the constables.

Mitchellstown is quiet to-night. Mr. Dillon remains. The persons killed were an old man named Riordan, a resident of the locality, and an elderly cabman from Fernoy.

In the House of Commons this evening, Mr. Smith said he had received no details of the trouble at Mitchellstown. Mr. Sexton called attention to the fact that eight hours after the riot, the Government had not been informed of the particulars.

Government Issues an Earnest Whip.

The government has issued an urgent whip to its supporters to attend the sitting of the House of Commons on Monday, during the debate on the proclamation of the Ennis meeting. It has been decided to apply the closure on the first night.

A DRUNKEN FRENZY.

The Police are Obliged to Shoot Him.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. Richard Holley, residing at East 53rd street, in a drunken frenzy assaulted his wife with a hatchet, fracturing her skull. He then attacked another woman visiting the house, inflicting severe wounds on her head and body. The stove set fire to the house. The neighbors discovered the flames. Holley locked the door and defied them. The flames were extinguished and the police notified. Holley resisted ferociously. The police were obliged to break open the door and had to shoot him before he could be captured. The mad man was taken to Bellevue.

FROM WASHINGTON.

News About the Capital.

Mr. Carlisle and the Speakership.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. It can be stated upon authority that the friends of ex-Speaker Carlisle in the next Congress have been seriously considering with him the advisability of not allowing his name to go before the Democratic caucus as a candidate for Speaker, but to put some one of their number forward for that position and to make Carlisle Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. This matter was discussed with the President while Carlisle was at Oak View this week in connection with the tariff question. Many tariff reformers think that if Carlisle can be induced to believe that his assuming the chairmanship of this important House committee would lead to or bring about harmony on this vexed question he would forego his personal ambition and accept it.

The Medical Congress and Railroad Accidents.

At a meeting of the Medical Congress to-day, the following was adopted: Whereas, the whole community has been repeatedly shocked by the almost daily occurence of terrible accidents on many of our railroads, causing considerable loss of life and by the habitual neglect of the most elementary sanitary laws, and whereas, as this association considers itself in a degree the guardian of the public health, therefore be it resolved that the attention of this International Congress be called to this most important question and be requested to use its influence to obtain necessary reforms.

WRECKED ON THE LAKE.

Fifteen Persons Believed to Be Lost.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 9. Captain Waite, of the steamer Idaho, just arrived, reports passing the wreck of the Niagara at 11.30 A. M. yesterday. She lies in one fathom of water five miles from shore. Her mizzen mast just reaches above water and her main and foremasts are floating near with other pieces of wreckage. Capt. Waite saw no trace of any of her crew and states that though not many miles from shore and the life saving stations no small boat could have lived in the terrible sea which was running there Wednesday. Capt. Waite thinks that in addition to the crew of the Niagara there were a number of ladies as he met her as he was coming up and noticed them. All must have perished. The gale was one of the severest on the lake for years, the wind reaching a velocity of 60 miles an hour. There were about 15 persons on the Niagara.

VERMONT.

Asking that an Injunction Be Removed.

BURLINGTON, Sept. 9. Judge Rowell rendered a decision denying the motion of Baldwin & Cheney, of Winooski, asking that the injunction be dissolved which was brought at the instance of the Baldwin Manufacturing Company, of Burlington, restraining them from using the term "Baldwin Dry Air Refrigerator."

THE FISHERIES.

Reported Capture of an American Schooner.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sep. 9. It is reported that Cruiser Intrepid captured an American schooner within the three mile limit, off Campobello, Thursday, and took her into port. The Customs department ordered the Captain to take the capture to St. Andrews and report the fact to headquarters.

A THREATENED STRIKE.

Of One Hundred Thousand Miners.

PITTSBURG, Sep. 9. A hundred thousand miners will strike to-morrow night if the Philadelphia, Reading Coal and Iron Co. sticks to its decision not to arbitrate the question involved in the two weeks' pay law.

If sick headache is misery what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take. d&wlw

FOREIGN NEWS.

Sufferings of Shipwrecked Seamen.

LONDON, Sept. 9. Cunard steamer Umbria, from New York Sept. 3rd, for Liverpool, arrived at Queenstown to-day. She brings thirteen of the crew of the American schooner Lillian Baxter, wrecked off Newfoundland. The men had suffered great privations for two days on board their dismasted vessel. One was drowned. The wreck was fired before it was abandoned.

The steamer Lewiston did not arrive in this city until about three o'clock yesterday afternoon on account of lying over in Rockland Wednesday night and not starting from Boston Thursday night until nine o'clock, as the rough weather would not allow an earlier start. A ROYAL CLARION RANGE MAKING A LONG JOURNEY. Wood, Bishop & Co., yesterday shipped one of their Royal Clarion ranges to Carterville, Georgia, to the great revivalist, Rev. Samuel P. Jones. His wife saw one of the Clarion ranges at Minneapolis, Minn, and instructed Mr. E. Moses, a wealthy lumber dealer, at whose house she saw the range, to buy it for her, as he was going east. Mr. Moses says that no such good range is on sale in the far West and South.

It seems singular that in a port of the size of Bangor, and one where so much repairing is done to the vessels, that there should be such a scarcity of masts as there seems to be at present. A number of vessels that needed them, and whose captains thought they could get them here, have been obliged to go away disappointed. The dealers say there is not profit enough in them, as they get them in quantities and they are often left to rot on their hands. They have been much needed lately, however, and the riggers, and the other vessel workmen have lost a number of jobs by their scarcity.

PAINFUL FALL. W. H. McCrillis, Esq., received quite a severe fall yesterday afternoon in front of his office in Granite Block. As he was alighting from his carriage the horse suddenly started throwing him to the ground, where he struck quite heavily. He was carried into A. M. Robinson's drug store and examined by a physician. No bones were broken by the fall and beyond a few bruises and severe shaking up no particular injuries were received. The many friends in this city of Mr. McCrillis sincerely hope that there will be no evil results from the fall and hope to see him out soon.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT. As the steamer City of Richmond, of the Portland, Mt. Desert and Machias Steamship Company, was making her landing at Machiasport last Saturday evening, about fifty people were standing on the slip. When about twenty-five had landed from the boat the chain from the hoisting gear suddenly gave way, and the slip with its heavy load fell about twenty-five feet to the water. Floating gripsacks, the umbrellas and the drenched passengers made a scene of confusion. But owing to the diligence of the officers of the boat and the citizens of the town, no lives were lost, although some were severely injured.

FATHER MATHEW TEMPERANCE SOCIETY. The Father Mathew Temperance and Literary Society will have a general meeting on Sunday at 4 o'clock standard time, when a new constitution and general features of improvement will be discussed. This society intends to start in in real earnest for a vigorous winter's work. A large accession is expected to the roll of membership, and with its very efficient corp of ladies, some of whom are well known in literary circles, much improvement is expected for the winter's work. The society will shortly give another entertainment and the last one ought to be a guarantee of its being first-class.

A NOBLE GIFT. St. Paul, Minnesota, says an exchange, is fortunate in having among its citizens one whose liberality has prompted him to present to the city a public library building, with art school, conservatory of music and reading and lecture room attached. The gentleman's name is Mr. A. B. Stickney, President of the Minnesota & Northwestern Railroad, who has invested $65,000 in the property, and his total gift will aggregate $100,000 given with the condition that no other citizens contribute to the enterprise. The Mr. Stickney alluded to above is understood to be the son of Daniel Stickney, Esq., of Presque Isle, who went west many years ago and has been a leading railroad man there.

ORONO ITEMS. Our correspondent writes: The concert given by the Williams Family at Orono Town Hall, Thursday and Friday evenings, attracted good sized audiences. Bufum, Esq., of Portland, Oregon, an Orono boy, was in town to-day.——On account of illness, Capt. Sturtevant who has been announced to speak here, has been obliged to postpone his engagement. He hopes, however, to be able to be here next week.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF THE LATE MISS HARRIET E. HILLIARD. The funeral services of the late Miss Harriet E. Hilliard occurred yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, at her late residence on Pine street. There was a very large attendance of the friends and acquaintances of the deceased assembled to pay their last respects. The floral offerings were beautiful and profuse, while the arrangement was most appropriate. Prof. L. F. Stearns and Rev. George Croswell Cressey officiated impressively at the services. The singing was by a quartette composed of Miss Annie Semple, Mrs. Gardner, Messrs. A. G. Ray and G. S. Farrington, who gave a number of selections very feelingly. The bearers were F. A. Wilson, Esq., General Charles W. Roberts, Mr. I. H. Merrill and Mr. H. M. Prentiss.

RECEPTION TO A. W. ANTHONY AND WIFE. A very pleasant reception was tendered Rev. A. W. Anthony and wife, by the parishoners of the Essex street Free Baptist church, last evening, on the occasion of their return from a trip to Europe. A short sociable was held before the reception, which began a quarter before eight o'clock, the time being pleasantly passed in conversation. As soon as the reception began a large number of the parish passed up the vestry to welcome back the pastor and his wife who received them most cordially. During the evening a quartette composed of Mrs. Nash, Miss Henry, Messrs. C. E. and E. W. Cayting rendered a song very finely, and a trio composed of Messrs. R. G. Hillman, C. E. and E. W. Cayting also sang an excellent selection. Refreshments of ice-cream and cake were served. The occasion was one of much enjoyment, and a source of gratification to all present.

The St. John Telegraph says: An effort is being made to bring about a race between Edgardo and Elmbrook, the winner of the colt race at Bangor. If this can be done, the managers of the St. Stephen park will prepare for a two days' meeting on Oct. 5th and 6th.

An Italian very sick with pneumonia and probably typhoid fever, arrived in this city yesterday from Greenville, where he has been at work on the Canadian Pacific Railroad. He was attended at the depot by a physician and taken to the City Hospital where he was well cared for. He will be taken to New York to-day on the steamer Lucy P. Miller, where his friends will undoubtedly do all that is possible for him.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT. A very severe accident happened last evening a few minutes before eight o'clock, on Kenduskeag bridge, to an old man named Michael McPhee, living on Sanford street. He was crossing the street on the crossing opposite the store of Tea White, when, as he stepped from behind a carriage that had just passed, he was run into by a team belonging to E. R. Burpee, Esq., and driven by his hired man, and run over. The driver had shouted to him, seeing that he could not stop his horse in time not to run over him, but McPhee, who is quite deaf, had not heard him and received the full force of the shock. The horse and carriage went over him, and when he was taken up by those who rushed to his assistance and carried into the store of G. G. Esterbrook & Son, it was found that his left leg was terribly broken below the knee. He was at once taken to his home where he was attended by four physicians, who after consultation decided that the leg must be amputated, and the operation was according performed late at night. The accident will go very hard with him as he is an old man, but it is to be hoped that the result will not be fatal and that he will survive the severe operation that has been performed upon him.

OUR SCHOOL HOUSES.

Annual Repairs and Improvements.

Following is an account of the work done by School Agent Bradbury during the summer vacation: The Salem Court school property, so long an eyesore in looks and lacking in comforts, has been transformed and made to shine in appearance, and its needs most generally supplied. The fact that connection could be made with the deep sewer crossing State street, at its junction with Maple, was the starting point, the Holly water being supplied at the same time. A stone and cement foundation and a brick basement were put under the house, with special reference to being proof against frost, having one compartment for girls and another for boys, the sanitary arrangements in which, are of the latest and most approved description, leaving no want unsatisfied in that direction, and also having water for drinking in abundance and easy to get at. The unsightly ravine between the house and the street is filled and smoothly graded, the front fence removed, the grounds generally cared for, a new and substantial fence on the south line built, and the whole house is receiving a coat of paint inside and out, the ceilings and walls kalsomined, an entrance to basement from inside where it was formerly outside, and many minor improvements which we have not time to note.

The next important change is at the Union Square Grammar School building, whose twelve rooms are packed with pupils, while the sanitary arrangements were entirely inadequate for the eight rooms with which the building was started, and it has long been felt that an enlargement in that direction was an absolute necessity for its near five hundred children. The School Agent has met the want and doubled the capacity, putting in his new invention which does away with the use of hoppers and small traps, using deep, long tanks copiously supplied with water; a plan which Dr. Young, Secretary of the State Board of Health, inspected and approved in the highest terms. One room in the third story has a new set of Paragon desks. Two other rooms have their desks supplied in part with new tops or the old ones made as good as new and all varnished and made bright and comfortable, new mattings on the west side stairs, the basement white-washed, the front steps painted and everything put in order for the year's work.

The High School rooms have some new matting and there are preparations going on in the basement for chemical instructions.

New fences have been made at Division street, also at Pearl street. A side entrance has been made at the State Street school house.

In addition to the foregoing each of the thirty-six school houses has been thoroughly washed and cleaned inside and each stove pipe taken down and emptied, and all the details necessary to good order and work attended to.

This has been a busy vacation for the agent. His only vacation was a trip to Portland in obedience to a summons from the United States Court to serve on the Grand Jury.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Merchant of Venice" and "The Little Rebel."

Another large audience assembled at the Opera House last evening and was well pleased at the performance of "The Merchant of Venice" and the afterpiece "The Little Rebel," both of which passed off well and were smoothly presented. The company has been doing a large business this week, having had large audiences at each play, and the engagement, which closes to-night, has been a successful one.

The play for the matinee at 2.30 will be "The Lancashire Lass" and this evening "Jess, the Pet of the Mines."

Roland Reed.

Seats are selling fast for next Monday evening, when the favorite comedian, Roland Reed will appear in "Humbug." A large house should assemble on this occasion, as an evening of rare amusement may be expected.

Mademoiselle Rhea.

The sale of seats for the engagement of this distinguished French actress will open at the box office this morning. Mlle. Rhea has created a number of roles since her first appearance in this country, and revived and added new interest to plenty of old ones, but none have received more manifestations of approval, than have been bestowed on her "Galatea." She will present this charming creation at the Opera House on Tuesday evening next. The bill for Wednesday will consist of the new comedy from the French, "Fairy Fingers."

A Pet Dog Killed.

Probably the most noted and most beloved dog in Bangor was ruthlessly run over and killed by a brute Aug. 30th, on Main street. Carlo was owned by Mr. W. P. Delano, and his age was sixteen years three months and twenty-seven days, being born the third day of May, 1871. Not having any children, Mr. Delano and his wife had virtually centered their affections on this dog and thought as much of him as an only child. They had owned him from the time he was four weeks old and his loss is a severe affliction to them both. In 1875 Mr. Delano and his wife started to go to California with a party, and at Miles' Grove, Penn., just as the cars were starting, Carlo was missing and Mr. Delano jumped off and left the train to find him. He was successful and rejoined his party again at Cheyenne, having been three and one-half days separated from them. Continuing to San Francisco the dog followed the fortunes of his owner, and returned with him to this city, having travelled in his eventful career, in various directions, about 11,000 miles. He was affectionate, intelligent and perfectly harmless and unoffensive, and devotedly attached to his master and mistress. Mr. Delano purchased a box of one and one-half inch pine and placed poor Carlo in a winding sheet as carefully as though he was a human being, and then had him properly interred in a lovely spot in the vicinity of Lover's Leap. "Requiescat in pace."

NEW BOOKS.

BUTTON'S INN, by Albion W. Tourgee. In this book Judge Tourgee has made an entirely new departure from his former line of writing, dealing rather with the spiritual than with the physical life of his characters. The story has more of a plot in it than is usually in his romances and the portraits are drawn with all the boldness and naturalness of this popular writer. The strange mystery attending the haunted inn and its inmates excites the readers curiosity and holds him intensely interested to the very last page of the book. The ingenious manner in which the early Mormon delusion is interwoven with the thread of the story adds much to its originality and interest. Price $1.25.

A LAD'S LOVE, by Arlo Bates, is a fresh, pleasantly told story of summer life at Campobello. The hero falls desperately in love with a charming widow, many years his senior. His despair and mortification at finding that his affection is regarded by its object, as simply the "flaring twinkle of a rush-light, the delusive fervor of a lad's love," is made the most of, and it is only at the close of the book, that we find him comfortably anchored and happy, in the safe harbor of a reciprocal affection for the seventeen years old daughter of his earlier and more transient flame. Price $1.00. Both the above books are published by Roberts Bros., Boston, and are for sale by D. Bugbee & Co.

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is in idea in character, and manifests itself in running sores, pustular eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, scrofulous tumors, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched and healthy.

I was severely afflicted with scrofula and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am cured. C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofulous sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

Is one of the most disagreeable diseases caused by impure blood. It is readily cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

William Sykes, Lynn, Mass., suffered greatly from erysipelas, which he thinks was caused by handling fruit. All external remedies would only crack open a little, but Hood's Sarsaparilla, after using various preparations without benefit, healed the sores perfectly and entirely.

My son had salt rheum on his hands and on the calves of his legs. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla and was entirely cured. J. B. STANTON, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
